

Midwifery

AN INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL

-
- AI International News - December 2016
 - I Principles of physiological breech birth practice: A Delphi study
 - 7 Spousal violence and receipt of skilled maternity care during and after pregnancy in Nepal
 - 14 Care provision during termination of pregnancy following diagnosis of a severe congenital anomaly – A qualitative study of what is important to parents
 - 21 How does delivery method influence factors that contribute to women's childbirth experiences?
 - 29 Influences of prior miscarriage and weight status on perinatal psychological well-being, exercise motivation and behavior
 - 37 How domesticity dictates behaviour in the birth space: Lessons for designing birth environments in institutions wanting to promote a positive experience of birth
 - 48 Encourages and guides, or diagnoses and monitors: Woman centred-ness in the discourse of professional midwifery bodies

midwifery

Officially recognised by the European Midwives Association

Volume 43
Pages A1–A6; 1–58
December 2016

International News

International News - December 2016

A1

Elizabeth Duff

Original Articles

Principles of physiological breech birth practice: A Delphi study

1

Shawn Walker, Mandie Scamell and Pam Parker

Spousal violence and receipt of skilled maternity care during and after pregnancy in Nepal

7

Marie Furuta, Debra Bick, Hiromi Matsufuji and Kirstie Coxon

Care provision during termination of pregnancy following diagnosis of a severe congenital anomaly – A qualitative study of what is important to parents

14

Robyn Lotto, Natalie Armstrong and Lucy K. Smith

How does delivery method influence factors that contribute to women's childbirth experiences?

21

Pierre Carquillat, Michel Boulvain and Marie-Julia Guittier

Influences of prior miscarriage and weight status on perinatal psychological well-being, exercise motivation and behavior

29

Courtenay A. Devlin, Jennifer Huberty and Danielle S. Downs

How domesticity dictates behaviour in the birth space: Lessons for designing birth environments in institutions wanting to promote a positive experience of birth

37

T. Mondy, Jennifer Fenwick, Nicky Leap and Maralyn Foureur

Encourages and guides, or diagnoses and monitors: Woman centred-ness in the discourse of professional midwifery bodies

48

M.P. O'Malley-Keighran and G. Lohan

Publisher's Note: From 2016 all articles published in Midwifery will be immediately assigned online to an issue upon receipt of author proof corrections, resulting in immediate publication for our authors, without the need to wait as an Article in Press. We wish to make our readers aware that this will result in a Table of Contents where the page numbers do not always run sequentially.

Abstracted/Indexed in: ASSIA, British Nursing Index (BNI), CINAHL, CIRRIE, CISTI, Current Contents/Social & Behavioural Sciences, Emcare, ENB Health Care Database, Index Top 100™, MANTIS, Medis (Online), MEDLINE, OCLC FirstSearch, PubMed, Research Alert, Science Citation Index Expanded, Thomson Scientific SciSearch, VINITI. Also covered in the abstract and citation database Scopus®. Full text available on ScienceDirect®.

ELSEVIER